

Canneries of the Eastern Shore, Dr. Ed Kee. 3 August 2011

Dr. Ed Kee, the Secretary of Agriculture in the state of Delaware, has had a long career working in and with the vegetable and seafood canning industries of the eastern shore. He related many of his experiences and the peaks and valleys of the industry as a major supplier of canned food to the large markets in the cities along the east coast of the United States.

